A Marriage by Telegraph.

The following particulars of a recent marriage ceremony are given in the Thursday, April 16th, a minister in the Keokuk (Iowa) office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, mar-ried a couple at Bonaparte, he performing the ceremony and they pronouncing the marriage vow over the wire. Five o'clock was the hour fixed for the ceremony, and precisely at that time a dispatch was sent to Keokuk to the effect that the candidates were at the telegraph office in Bonaparte, and ready to proceed. The following was

John Sullivan and Francis Godown,

The following is a copy of the pledge which had been left with them: "You mutually and solemnly promise, before

God and the witnesses present, that you will each take the one you will hold by the hand to be your lawful and wedded companion; that, forsaking all others, you will cleave to each other in sickness and in health, and perform all the duties of a faithful companion until you are separated by death. If to this you agree, send me a message to that effect."

The concluding dispatch was sent as

John Sullivan and Frances Godown,

Bonaparte, Ia.: By authority, I pronounce you husband and wife, and may

God bless you. WM. C. PRATT."

The operators along the line then tendered their congratulations to the happy couple upon their marriage by the lightning process. We believe that this is the first authenticated marriage ceremony performed through the medium of the telegraph. Man-agers Dolbear, of Keokuk, and Det-

The English literary journals are full of articles, lately, about Chaucer and Shakspeare. Five or six rival reprinting societies are in full blast, giving the public the works of all the earliest English poets. If there is half as much study of these authors as there is writing about them. is writing about them, this Chaucer and Shakspeare epidemic may be fruitful of benefit.

Mr. Furnival says that "Edward the Third" is on the list of works to be issued by the "New Shakspeare Society;" but that the doubts entertained regarding the propriety of ascribing the play to Shakspeare, and the existence of an edition published by Professor Delius, have caused the society to pause before proceeding to bring out an edition of its own.
